

Printing your posters

You can print these posters any size you like but I have written these instructions for printing across 9 A4 sheets. If you want to make them bigger or smaller you can do.

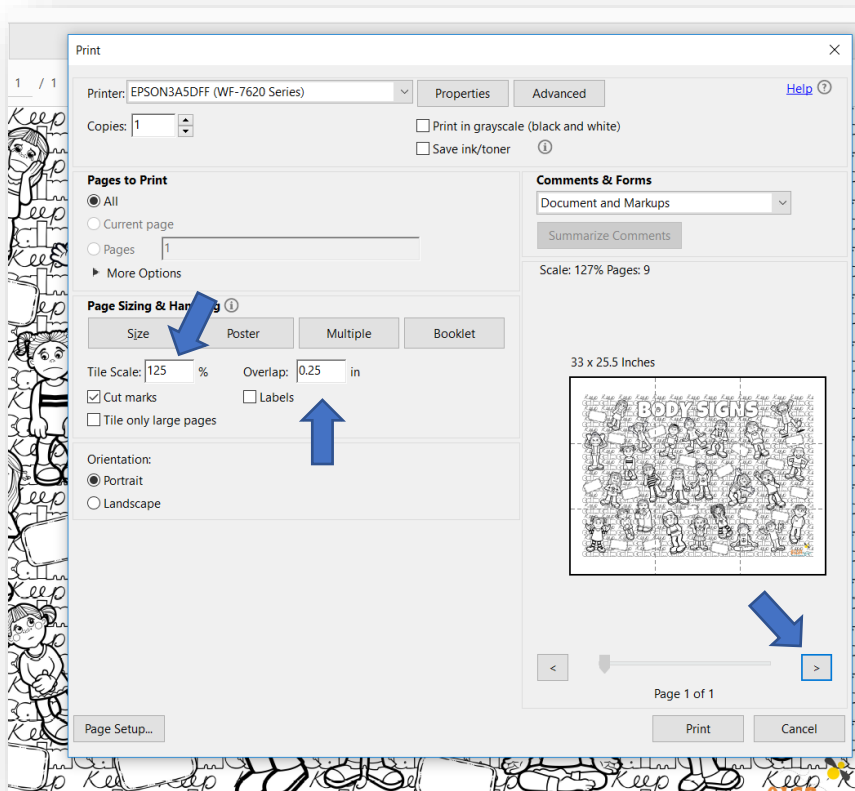

There are mainly landscape posters and a few portrait posters.

You need to open your PDF with Adobe reader for these instructions. This is pretty standard on all computers.

Open your poster and click PRINT.

You will get this screen.

You need an overlap of 0.25 which will give you space to glue your pieces together

Your tile scale needs to be around 125% but you might need to make it a bit bigger or a bit smaller. Keep an eye on the image which shows how many sheets you are using. You can see the image get bigger or smaller by clicking the arrow underneath it. You need it to be big enough to fit as closely as possible to the edges.

You then need to click 'cut marks' this gives you love cut marks for guillotining.

Portrait printing will be similar to this but the percentage might be slightly more. When you are happy click PRINT.
